

Four easy to reach CLE Signs near downtown & bike trail Edgewater Park

6500 Cleveland Memorial Shoreway, Cleveland, OH 44102

The script sign at Edgewater Park welcomes its visitors before they even make their way down to the beach area. Depending on the season, there are usually a lot of things happening at the park - from beaching and boating to wintertime surfing and sledding. This spot is popular for early sunrise photos, and great for anyone who wants a picture that combines the city and Lake Erie.

The Foundry

1831 Columbus Rd., Cleveland, OH 44113

This script sign, which was installed in August of 2018, is located at the uber-unique location of The Foundry, located on the Flats West Bank. This location offers an incredibly special cityscape view from the Cuyahoga River. If you're lucky, you might just capture a huge Lake Erie freighter in the background. Better still, make a stop inside The Foundry, a rowing and sailing center, to take fitness classes and lessons.

North Coast Harbor

East 9th Street Pier, Cleveland, OH 44114

The third of the original signs finds itself behind the Rock & Roll Hall of Fame and within close proximity to the Great Lakes Science Center and the Goodtime III. The Rock Hall, Terminal Tower and the new Hilton Downtown Cleveland make a perfect backdrop during a sunset photo at the script sign. It offers a glittering, south-facing cityscape shot.

Tremont

1502 Abbey Ave., Cleveland, OH 44113 near Sokolowski's just off the trail

The Tremont neighborhood sign features a backdrop of the majestic Innerbelt and Shoreway bridges, as well as a wide view of the tallest structures in the city like Terminal Tower and Key Tower. At night, some visitors like to add some bang to their shots by taking photos when the Indians have a fireworks show at Progressive Field. Spend a day (or night) in Tremont, which boasts an even mix of indie art galleries, cool boutiques and amazing culinary experiences.
